Mystery donor's grand gesture

AN anonymous benefactor who saw the Champion's article about vandalism at a Dalton church has come forward and given £1,000 of the £2,000 leaders need to install CCTV at the site.

Last week we reported on how vandals had targeted St Michael and All Angels Church on Higher Lane and smashed eight outside lights and two leaded windows, as well as damaging a memorial bench.

But following our story Janice Bainbridge, whose husband is the church warden at St Michael and All Angels, was shocked when she came out of a church service last Friday and a man placed £1,000, in cash, in her hand.

She said: "A man walked up the church path and came up to me and said he had seen the article and was disgusted. He gave me £1,000 in cash and said 'put this towards the CCTV appeal'. I was a bit taken aback at first.

"He said he lived in Ashurst and was shocked by the vandalism. He is not a regular churchgoer but said that whenever there is a family wedding, they use our church. We are very grateful for his donation."

Church leaders are hoping to raise the other £1,000 as quickly as possible and will make appeals during church services.

An electrician from Dalton has fixed the eight outside lights, free of charge, and plans are in place to repair the leaded windows.

Anyone with any information about the vandalism, is asked by Skelmersdale Police to call 101 and quote the crime reference number SB1803846.

FOOTBALL CLUB UNVEILS PLAN TO COME 'HOME'

Chairman announces ambitious scheme to relocate to town's JMO Sports park

Report by Henry James

OFFICIALS at Skelmersdale United have announced that they are currently in discussions with JMO Sports Park and officers of West Lancs Borough Council with a view to the club relocating to the JMO site in the town.

Bosses at the club are hoping to return 'home' by moving to the artificial 3G grass facility at Liverpool Road by January 2019 in a move which could cost £500,000.

The club, which plays in the Northern Premier League, was forced to move from its Stormy Corner ground in October of last year. Since then they have been playing 'home' fixtures 10 miles away at Prescot Cables.

Skelmersdale United chairman Paul Griffiths said: "Should we receive all the necessary relevant permissions and consents, work would commence to upgrade JMO Sports Park to enable it to accommodate the club.

"Skelmersdale United and the board of directors wish to place on record our sincere thanks for all the hard and time-consuming work done so far by JMO and council officers in getting us this far.

"On a personal note I wish to thank my fellow directors, sponsors and fans for their hard work and support during what has and is a very difficult time.

"There is still much more to do, and the club is still in need of all manner of support, especially from the local business community to help the club survive and move forward, please give us your help and support and we will attempt to do you proud."

To meet the league requirements, the club would need to enclose the ground, have covered stands, provide toilets and on-site catering facilities. There would also need to be new changing rooms as the current ones don't meet league requirements.

An aerial shot of the JMO sports park

Floodlights are already in place.

The club would need to put a planning application in to the council to enable the development to move forward and the local authority would also have to grant the owner of the facility, John Mallinson, a licence to allow Skelmersdale United to play there.

Mr Griffiths is confident the club can meet the criteria and has added they are going to apply for the money needed via private initiative funding, such as the Football Stadia Improvement Fund, which is operated via the Premier League.

To keep going until the move, the club is still looking for funding and is appealing to the business community for help. Anyone who can help can email paulgriffiths39@sky.com or call 07513 123 164.

A spokesman for the JMO sports park said: "We're delighted at the future prospect of Skelmersdale United playing here at JMO Sports Park and at the same time it's great to be able to help the club come back home to the town where it belongs.

"Match days will fit in with our current bookings and so there should be no disruption to our current customers and other potential new customers. Developing the clubhouse will also provide us with the opportunity to expand on what we currently offer to the local community and there's loads of potential for the club to get involved in community schemes too which we can host.

"The club has a fantastic history and playing locally again would give people the opportunity to come and support the team again and it can only be a positive thing for Skelmersdale United and the local community, as well as ourselves."

Wedding vow renewal among highlights of music festival!

Report by Kenny Parker

A MARRIED couple renewing their vows on stage was just one of the unusual highlights of this year's 15th Bickerstock Music Festival!

Ian and Sara Cassidy, who first met at the festival 10 years ago, renewed their vows at a special service at the event.

The festival, on Bickerstaffe parish field, saw nearly 40 acts play over two stages on Saturday and Sunday, as well as an open mic slot.

Amanda Bennett, a member of the organising committee, said that the festival seems to get "exponentially bigger" every year and about 250 people camped over at the site.

She said: "Paul Draper started it on the back of a trailer in a car park and it's now grown to what somebody said is 'a proper festival' - which I thought was rather nice.

"The demographic has changed a lot as well, so the atmosphere was just wonderful. It's a really nice family fun day, it was just fabulous. We had so many positive comments."

One unscheduled 'highlight' occurred when a band failed to turn up and 'Attacked By Wasps' - an impromptu group of various Bickerstock crew - took their place and received a lot of positive feedback about their performance.

Performers, organisers and volunteers on the opening day of the 2018 Bickerstock Music Festival.

Amanda added: "A big thanks to all the bands who played for free and to all the festival-goers who really made a tremendous job of keeping everywhere tidy and making it such a pleasant atmosphere.

"Thanks also to the volunteers. We had some really good people and a lot more new volunteers."

Money raised from the event will go towards next year's festival and also to local charities chosen by the public.

Nominations suggesting which local charities should benefit from funds raised by Bickerstock can be emailed to: bickerstocksecretary@gmail.com until the end of October.

Ian and Sara Cassidy renew their vows 10 years after meeting at Bickerstock.

Fundraising event for charity that supports tot with rare condition

UP Holland Labour Club will host a fundraising event on Sunday, August 19 in aid of the Amy and Friends Cockayne Support group who have helped Skelmersdale youngster, two-year-old Lily-Mae Esfandiary-Bilvee who has the rare genetic condition, Cockayne Syndrome.

Lily's nan, Sue Hodson, said: "Lily has a life-limiting condition that affects just one in 100,000 people.

"We organise this day to give something back to Amy and Friends because they do so much for us. Also it helps to raise awareness of Cockayne Syndrome which is a condition not many people know about."

Cockayne Syndrome is characterised by a failure to gain weight and grow at the expected rate leading to very short stature, and delayed development.

Lily with parents Sally and Ahmad

Lily, who can't sit up or stand and weighs just a little more than 14lbs, is classed as having the development of a 12-month-old child.

During the fundraising event, which will run from noon to 5.30pm, there will be a DJ, a funfair, inflatables, live singers and dancers, stalls, a raffle and an auction.

The auction will take bids for a number of items including a five-day holiday to Tenerife; two tickets for an executive box at Manchester United tickets with food and drink provided worth £200 each; a round of golf for four people at Dean Wood golf club; and a TV.

Amy and Friends are hoping to buy fibre optic equipment for Lily's bedroom to provide stimulation for her. They have also bought her a specially-adapted car seat.

The charity are also organising a three-day conference in Chester, which starts on Monday, August 13. The conference allows parents, who have children with the condition, to talk to each other as well as specialists.

Residents urged to join in Safety Partnership community action days

THERE is still time for residents in locations across West Lancs to get involved in community action days on their doorstep.

A series of Community Action Days are being organised by West Lancashire Community Safety Partnership working with the borough council, police, fire service and other agencies over the next two weeks.

The first was held yesterday (Tuesday, August 7)in Little Digmoor, Skelmersdale and the others are scheduled as follows:

- Today (Wednesday, August 8), Digmoor, near 232-236, Blakehall.
- Thursday, August 9, Moorside, Birleywood, near to Digmoor Parade.
- Tuesday, August 14, Tanhouse, Elmstead, second turning on the right near garages.
- Wednesday, August 15 , Scott Estate, Ormskirk, outside of shop on Scott Drive.
- Thursday, August 16, Birch Green, Fairlie, second turning on the left, first car park.

Council, police and fire and rescue service staff will be on the estates offering advice and support on community safety on the days. And skips will be available for members of the public to dispose of waste they are unable to take to local recycling centres. These will be available from 9am until they are full.

The community action days aim to improve working relationships, increase community confidence and reduce the fear of crime.

The council says previous action days in West Lancashire have been a great success, proving that community spirit is alive and well in the borough.

Councillor Kevin Wright, portfolio holder for community safety, said: "I hope residents will take part in the community action days and take the opportunity to use the skips and talk to staff from the council, police and other agencies about any concerns they have about crime and community safety."

Police officers will be on the estates to promote 'In the Know' and give advice on crime prevention and other community safety issues, including serious and organised crime.

A number of other service providers - including Young Addaction, the Lancashire Wellbeing Service and the Liberty Centre - will be raising awareness of their services and the support they can offer people.

This will include substance misuse issues, general advice and support on a range of wellbeing issues and support with domestic abuse.

In addition, Lancashire Probation's Community Payback Team will be supporting the events.

The council's environmental enforcement and estates management teams will also be around to encourage the use of the skips and deal with issues of fly-tipping and dog fouling.

The authority's customer engagement team will also be providing advice and support on digital skills training, including being safe online, and how to access the council's online services.

Also in attendance on each of the days will be the council's More Positive Together team who will be providing advice and offering support to those residents wishing to improve their health and wellbeing and prospects of employment. The More Positive Together scheme is a Lancashire-wide initiative funded by the European Social Fund.

Heidi McDougall, chairman of the West Lancashire Community Safety Partnership, said: "Community action days are great events for the local communities and I'd like to thank all the organisations, ward councillors and individual residents who play a part to make them successful."

Bev Hayman (kneeling right) charity organiser at Skelmersdale's Co-operative Bank with colleagues and staff from Stockport and Leek who travelled to the fundraising garden party.

Bank staff's boost for local foodbank

STAFF at the Co-operative Bank in Skelmersdale held a charity fundraising garden party at Beacon Park golf club to raise much-needed funds for the Trussell Trust foodbanks based in the town and also at Stockport and Leek.

Colleagues came together and raised £1,400 for each of the foodbanks which they donated by cheque.

Brenda Lowe from Skelmersdale Foodbank accepted the cheque and said they were really grateful for the money raised and continued support the Co-operative bank offer.

Bank staff also donated much-needed food and toiletries to the foodbank to help over the six-week school holidays when families who normally get free school meals struggle to feed their children.

Staff understood that just buying one extra item when they do their weekly shop can help support this local cause.

And although people think to donate tins of tuna fish and boxes of tea bags, they don't always think of items such as toothbrushes, toothpaste and shampoo.

Focused

The Co-operative Bank donation focused on these items and really helped to increase stock levels.

Bev Hayman said: "I am really pleased that we managed to raise such a large amount for this local cause and it just shows how much difference we can make when we work together helping the local community. We may work in different satellite areas but together we form a great team."

Men-Aces tackle track marathon in aid of good causes

MEMBERS of the Skem Men-Aces squad took on a gruelling 26.2 mile track marathon as a four-man team relay.

They ran 105.2 times around the running track at Edge Hill University for good causes.

The track marathon was the Men-Aces' annual fundraiser to help improve awareness and collect funds for themselves and others.

These include Ben's Buggies, which is a lad and dad team, Ben and Gary Jones, who run everywhere with Ben in his Buggy in order to provide more running buggies for other children with disabilities.

Funds were also raised for Skelmersdale JFL for their tractor and ground fund to help keep grassroots football going.

Mim and Carl Eaton from the Men-Aces said: "With miles of smiles the lads started clocking down the laps and miles with bags of enthusiasm.

"Regardless of ability the Men-Aces all did the fundraiser, either running, walking or in wheelchairs.

"All the lads performed amazingly, and received a nice medal and a goody bag, as well as achieved a sense of satisfaction that they had been involved in something way out of their comfort zone to help others.

Some of the Skem Men-Aces squad who took part in the fundraiser at Edge Hill University

"I want to thank our volunteers, marshals and coaches who helped us out on the day. They gave us support and handed out water and refreshments."

Historic aircraft to perform Ringtail monument fly-past

AN historic Royal Navy war plane will be making a fly past over Burscough's HMS Ringtail monument in the memorial garden outside Booths cafe on Ringtail Retail Park on Saturday, August 11at 2.15pm.

Local historian Lawrence Critchley says the aircraft, Fairey Swordfish 1 W5856, which will be flying over Burscough on the same day it is taking part in the Blackpool Air Show, is the oldest surviving Swordfish in the world being built in 1941.

It served with the Royal Navy in the Mediterranean for three years before being transferred to the Canadian Navy in 1944.

The Fairey Swordfish was one of the most successful aircraft in the history of naval warfare. Between 1939 and 1945. Swordfish saw active service worldwide, pursuing the enemy afloat and ashore in every theatre of war, between the Atlantic and Indian Ocean and Arctic Circle.

County cabinet to consider new strategy to improve fitness levels

A NEW strategy to encourage people to cycle and walk more often will be considered by Lancashire County Council's cabinet tomorrow (Thursday, August 9).

The ambitious plan, called Actively Moving Forward, sets out to

- Double the number of people cycling.
- Increase the amount that people walk by 10%. Particularly by increasing the percentage of children aged between five and 10 who usually walk to and from school.
- Reduce levels of physical inactivity across Lancashire so they fall below the national average.

It is aimed to achieve these targets by 2028.

The strategy has been put together by the county council, in partnership with Blackpool Council and Blackburn with Darwen Council, following a consultation with local people and other partners.

The authority's head of planning and environment, Andrew Mullaney, said: "It's crucial we do all we can to encourage people to be more physically active. Making it easier for people to walk and cycle brings many benefits, from improving health and wellbeing, reducing road congestion and improving local air quality, to providing access to job opportunities and supporting economic growth.

"This strategy would build on the range of high-quality walking and cycling routes, which already offer excellent access to the county's towns and cities and beautiful rural landscape.

"Some of the actions set out in the strategy include making use of existing walking and cycling facilities, investing in further improvements, improving safety for cyclists and pedestrians, and changing people's behaviour to make walking and cycling their natural choice for shorter journeys, or as part of a longer journey."

Campaign group calls on Walkers to change to recyclable crisp packets

Company says it is investing in research and development to improve recyclability of packs

Report by Henry James

THE UK's biggest crisp brand, Walkers, which has a manufacturing site in Skelmersdale, came under pressure this week to explain why it is helping to fuel plastic waste pollution by producing more than 7,000 non-recyclable crisp packets every minute.

Campaign group 38 Degrees was due to present a 290,000-name petition yesterday (Tuesday, August 7) to Walkers' parent company PepsiCo calling for them and other companies to stop using plastic packaging for their crisp packaging.

38 Degrees say they want to see the packets made from recycled products or preferably non-plastic environmentally-friendly material.

The petition which was started by Geraint Ashcroft of Cardiff who met with senior executives from PepsiCo, states: "We call upon Walkers and other manufacturers to change the materials for their packets to one which is recyclable or even more preferably a non-plastic environmentally friendly material.

"Currently the majority of crisp packets in the UK and Worldwide are not recyclable so they have to go to landfill. As a nation the UK alone consumes approximately six billion packets a year. Imagine what the figure would be for Europe or worldwide. That's an awful lot of landfill and poison for the environment.

"Crisp packets have been found intact after 33 years. Imagine during that time the effect on wildlife and the environment.

"At today's consumption rate in 33 years time there will be 200 billion crisp packets either sent to landfill or polluting our oceans. Many will be ingested by animals, fish or birds leading to a slow lingering death."

Initiatives

Brands produced at the company's Skelmersdale site in Pennine Place, near to the M58 motorway in West Pimbo include Walkers crisps, Monster Munch, Walkers Baked and Snack a Jacks.

A PepsiCo spokesperson said: "We are committed to achieving 100% recyclable, compostable or biodegradable packaging by 2025.

"We have a number of initiatives in place to reduce the amount of packaging we use and at the same time we're examining the use of different packaging materials, both plant and paper-based.

"We are also investing in research and development to explore options to improve the recyclability of our packs. We don't have all the answers yet, which is why we're collaborating with a number of leaders in this area to learn and share the latest science and practical solutions."

School travel pass reminder to parents

LANCASHIRE County Council is reminding parents to prepare for children's school travel arrangements for next academic year.

The transport entitlement for all pupils who are starting secondary school is assessed by the county council and any parent who has received a letter and an application form about transport for pupils beginning Year 7 in September should return their completed application as soon as possible.

As soon as the completed form is received, the county council will try to issue a new pass in time for the start of the new school term.

Any parent who thinks their child may now be entitled to receive help with travel costs since submitting their secondary school application, due to a change in circumstances, should contact the School Transport Line on 0300 123 6738.

Friends group supporting 40th birthday celebrations at library

AS part of its 40th birthday celebrations, Skelmersdale Library is holding a number of events supported by the Friends group (FoSL).

The Lancashire Libraries Summer Reading Journey, SCART, has started and they are supporting the library in Southway helping local children to join the SCART gang.

The SCART club aims to offer something for everyone. There are five sections which are Science, Culture, Active, Reading and Technology which if you take the first letter from each spells SCART.

In each section there are suggestions for books to read and activities to complete e.g. going to Lego Club, with stickers for completing each stage and a prize at the end.

To help children achieve the activity challenges in the SCART reading club, the library will hold a craft event today (Wednesday, August 8) from 1 to 3pm to do an activity which will allow children to complete the science activity.

And on Wednesday, August 22 from 1 to 3pm there will be an activity to complete the reading challenge.

Attendance is free and booking is not required, just go along to the library.

A Lego Club will also be held from 2 to 3pm on Mondays, August 13 and 20.

Throughout the summer school holidays, there will also be a Breakfast Club on Mondays to Fridays from 9.30 to 10.30am where children can have breakfast and read a book, play a board game or take part in a craft or colouring activity.

Health commissioners defend borough's out of hours GP provision

Report by Kenny Parker

WEST Lancs health service commissioners have defended their GP out of hours provision after being challenged by Rosie Cooper.

Recent reports into the provision of extended hours GP practices revealed what appeared to be a 'postcode lottery' across Lancashire with 90 per of surgeries in Darwen and 50 per cent in Preston offering full extended service, but just 10 per cent of surgeries in West Lancs doing so.

As a result, the MP said she had written to the West Lancs Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) for a full explanation.

Rosie Cooper said: "Residents are being let down by West Lancashire CCG's failure to reach Government targets of 90 to 100 per cent therefore I have written to the chief officer asking for clarification on why there is, what appears to be, a postcode lottery about the access patients have to extended hours.

"I have asked for a detailed explanation about what is being done to address this situation, especially as so many constituents complain to me about waiting weeks for GP appointments, while some cannot get one at all."

Rosie Cooper

However, CCG says an extended service has been available to all residents across West Lancashire since 2016 and that it will soon be publicising the service to make people more aware of it.

A spokesperson for NHS West Lancashire CCG, said: "The responsibility to offer the extended access programme sits with CCGs and not individual GP practices. Therefore, there is no expectation for each practice to offer this service.

"Some CCGs have chosen to ask GP practices to deliver this service individually. However in West Lancashire we have opted for a one provider model which ensures access for all our residents in West Lancashire across the whole week.

"As of October 2018 there is a target set by NHS England to ensure that the service covers and is accessible to the whole population. In West Lancashire we have already been offering this service since November 2016, initially starting with a weekend programme which has built over time and is now offered six days a week from 6.30 to 8pm Monday to Thursday; 10am to 4pm on Saturday; and 10am to 2pm on Sunday.

"The services were also initially delivered on Friday evenings as well, however uptake of these appointments was poor.

"Our service covers all three neighbourhoods in West Lancashire - Ormskirk, Skelmersdale and the Northern Parishes - and is accessible to 100 per cent of our population.

"1,091 new appointments are offered in West Lancashire every week and while 92 per cent of them are currently being booked each week, a small amount of appointments are usually still available most weeks.

"If residents would like to use the service, full details as to which practices offer the service and when, are available on the CCG's website and appointments are made simply by calling your own GP practice and making an appointment as you would do normally."

Care home welcomes community to summer fayre

STAFF at a care home threw open its doors to the local community by inviting them along to its annual family fun day.

Residents of the Birch Green Care Home in Ivydale, Skelmersdale were joined by family, friends, staff and members of the local community to enjoy the 2018 summer fayre.

And organisers said the event had a "fantastic turn-out" with visitors enjoying games, stalls, the ever-popular tombola and a delicious sweets and treats shop.

There was also a selection of food choices to tuck into, including a Thai food stall and a BBQ.

Entertainment was kindly provided throughout the day by talented singer and dancer, Bradley whose mum, Clare is a member of the team at Birch Green.

And residents and their guests enjoyed having their photo taken at the seaside-style photo booth which provided everyone with some fun memories to share.

General manager at Birch Green, Vicky Sudworth, said: "Our lifestyle and wellbeing team deliver meaningful activities throughout the year and the summer fayre is something they all look forward to.

"I would like say thank-you to everyone involved in organising this event, especially Edna, a resident at Birch Green who sold raffle tickets throughout the day and loved getting involved and chatting to guests.

"It was lovely to see residents catching up with loved ones, as well as making some new friends from the local community. We can't wait to do it all again next year."

Local band in talks with record companies

A FOUR-piece band from Skelmersdale say they are in discussions with record companies following the release of their latest EP entitled Monsoon.

Big Bambora, who describe their music as "original ambient indie-pop", say the EP, which took six months in the recording studio to produce, enjoyed a "huge success" when launched at The Buffs social club in the town.

The band say they sold out of their first batch of CDs and also reached a total of 15,000 online streams for the EP inside the first week.

They have now set off on a three-month UK-wide Monsoon tour, with a headline slot at the Bickerstock Music Festival first stop. And they say they are currently in talks with a few record labels after the successful release of Monsoon.

Having headlined festivals and played at some of the biggest venues in cities including Liverpool, Manchester and London, and supported bands such as Space, The Hoosiers and Toploader, Big Bambora have built up an online following of more than 6,000 over all their social media accounts.

Lions help give Val new lease of life

Community group's biggest-ever fundraising campaign hits £15,000 target to buy specially-adapted wheelchair

Report by Kenny Parker

A WOMAN who has been paralysed from the waist down for five years is now enjoying a new lease of life - thanks to a specially-adapted wheelchair bought for her following a community fundraising campaign.

Val Thompson was previously featured in the Champion when she successfully contested a decision to withdraw her funded care package.

The 62-year-old from Newburgh had broken her spine following a fall downstairs in 2013 leaving her unable to stand, wheelchair-bound and with weakness in the upper body.

Now though, thanks to her new wheelchair, she can stand and talk to people face-to-face, as well as performing simple everyday tasks that most people take for granted, like operating light switches!

And her grandchildren have affectionately named her 'Transformer nan' after the robot movie-inspired toys!

Fundraising for the £15,000 to buy the special wheelchair was co-ordinated by the Douglas Valley Lions Club, which covers the Lathom and Newburgh area, after they were approached by one of Val's carers.

Val tries out her new wheelchair watched by Iain McNair of Southport Lions, John Tamlin of Douglas Valley Lions, and John Allwright of West Lancs Freemasons.

Her medical support team had advised that Val would benefit greatly from having a chair that could lift her into a standing position.

Other benefits include a reduction in pressure sores and improved heart and body functions, muscle tone and joint capability, as well as a boost to self-esteem.

John Tamlin who led the project for Douglas Valley Lions Club, said: "Val had tried out a similar wheelchair at Southport Hospital and had experienced the benefits but of course the cost of the machine was prohibitive and was not standard NHS issue.

"When a request for help was brought to the Lions we looked into it and decided to raise the £15,000 needed to purchase the equipment. It was the largest single fundraising target we'd ever attempted so we didn't know how long it would take. But we did know that we wanted to raise the money quickly as the longer it took the longer Val would have to remain in her normal wheelchair."

John says the response was "amazing" and the target was speedily achieved through various events including a sportsman's dinner, race night, crowdfunding, individual gifts and "significant" donations by Southport Lions Club and the West Lancs Association of Freemasons.

And after being given full training, Val gave a demonstration of her new wheelchair's capabilities for members of the groups that helped to raise the funds.

John Tamlin added: "It was amazing to see the joy in Val's face as she showed the machine's capability, She also offered her heartfelt thanks to everyone involved with the project. She can't believe the difference it has already made to her life."

A grateful Val posted on a community website: "My grandchildren now say they have a Transformer for a nana. Just looking at their faces when I stood for the first time brought tears to my eyes as they have never known me standing."

And she told the Champion: "The wheelchair has made a massive difference to my life. I am now able to carry out small tasks in the house like turning on lights, closing curtains or reaching things in the fridge for instance.

"I have also been out on my own for the first time in five years and it felt wonderful! Having the standing facility has strengthened my legs already and they are feeling stronger day by day.

"I will be forever grateful to the Lions, the Masons and all the kind donations made to enable me to have this wonderful wheelchair. And I must say a personal thank-you to John Tamlin from the Douglas Valley Lions who worked endlessly to make this happen for me. He has been such a support to both myself and my husband John."

Watchdogs issue timeshare scam alert

Warning to beware of cold callers offering to negotiate release from holiday property agreements - for a fee

COUNTY council watchdogs are warning about a timeshare scam targeting people who signed up to schemes in the past and are desperate to get out of them.

The authority's Trading Standards officers say they are receiving complaints from people who have lost thousands of pounds in 'legal fees' to cold callers claiming to be able to release them from their timeshare, but who deliver nothing in return.

Deputy leader of the council, County Councillor Albert Atkinson, said: "Timeshare schemes were once a lot more popular than they are now and many people signed up to them in the 1980s and 1990s, sometimes after being subjected to high-pressure sales techniques and without reading the small print.

"These people are now older and their financial situation has changed, some may even be in poor health and unable to make use of their timeshare property.

"This has left them vulnerable to companies which phone out of the blue claiming their so-called legal experts can negotiate a way out of the timeshare on their behalf. These companies charge a large fee and are generally unsuccessful.

"Cases have been reported where the money lost to these so-called legal experts is actually more than would have been needed simply to exit the agreement with the timeshare company using the clause in the contract.

County Councillor Albert Atkinson

"If you are an existing timeshare owner looking to end your agreement, always speak to your own timeshare company and carefully check the grounds on which they will allow you to do so before considering your next step. Many timeshare companies do have criteria under which they will allow members to exit their agreement."

Trading Standards are also warning people to be on their guard if offered the opportunity to buy into a timeshare scheme over the holiday season.

People are often approached by salespeople offering an incentive to attend a presentation or seminar, which is nothing more than a lengthy sales pitch.

A more recent development is holidaymakers in the UK being sold a share in a 'lodge'.

Cllr. Atkinson added: "People are rightly wary of timeshares, but they continue in different forms and the important thing is to take advice before entering into any agreement or contract and not be pressured into signing up on the spot.

"This applies not only to the purchase, but also the resale of timeshare contracts, as well as offers of percentage shares in companies offering holiday accommodation.

"Under EU law you should be provided with a right of cancellation, giving you time to think about the terms and conditions and whether the product suits you. So, if you're worried you have signed up to something you don't want, don't hesitate to take advice."

More disruption to Northern Rail services

Passengers hit by fresh batch of cancellations after staff 'made themselves unavailable to work'

Report by Henry James

PASSENGERS using Northern Rail services had to endure yet more disruption last Sunday when staff "made themselves unavailable to work."

The company was the subject of criticism when it cut more than 9,000 rail services after timetable changes resulted in chaos in the spring but a total of 75% of the cancelled services were reinstated last week.

However, there was more misery on Sunday when yet more services were slashed because the under-fire company were short of staff.

Locally, Liverpool was the worst hit. The Liverpool to Manchester Airport service was subject to a full cancellation, affecting 30 services; while the Wigan North Western-Liverpool route saw 50% of services cancelled, 29 in total.

The company did still operate one hourly service between Lime Street and Wigan NW.

As part of their contract Northern Rail staff don't have to work Sundays, as long as they give the company seven days notice. It appears so many staff gave the company notice that they were forced to cancel the Sunday services across the network.

Sunday saw more cancellations on Northern Rail services in the region.

Affected

On announcing the cancellations, a spokesman for Northern, said: "Unfortunately we have so far had to cancel around 80 services across our network and it is likely more will be cancelled as we continue to plan our services.

"Routes which will see cancellations have been chosen carefully to make best use of resources and to minimise the impact on customers. On each route customers will either have other rail options via Northern and other operators or will have the provision of rail replacement transport.

"The areas most affected are in Liverpool, Lancashire and Greater Manchester and we would like to apologise to customers whose plans and journeys will be disrupted.

"Some Northern staff have made themselves unavailable for work on Sunday and operational teams are currently working hard to make the best use of available staff and bring others in where possible. Rail replacement road transport will also be used where possible to help try to keep Northern customers on the move."

The spokesman advised anyone planning on travelling to 'plan carefully, check for cancellations and visit the Northern website or National Rail Enquiries for the most up-to-date information.'

Anyone whose journey is delayed by 30 minutes or more can apply for compensation via Delay Repay.

Police commissioner seeks public's views on crime priorities

Online survey launched and 'Let's Talk Policing' events to be held, including at Skelmersdale

LANCASHIRE'S Police and Crime Commissioner Clive Grunshaw is asking residents for their views on policing as pressures on the service grow and resources continue to reduce.

The commissioner has launched an online survey and announced a series of roadshow events to ask residents' views on priorities around crime and policing.

These will continue to inform his Police and Crime Plan which sets out how the police and community safety partners work together to keep Lancashire safe.

Mr Grunshaw said: "Year-on-year we have less money to deliver policing in Lancashire as a result of growing demand and rising costs due to inflation. With the Government not providing any extra resources but passing the burden onto council tax payers, I want to get a clear view from the public about their priorities and how safe they feel.

"I know people will have concerns about recorded crime going up and police having to respond to more non-crime issues as cuts to other services like mental health continue to bite.

"Having made savings of £84m since 2010 with a further £18m to find by 2022, Lancashire's police service will continue to have to adapt. With fewer officers and resources it is even more important to ensure that our plans meet operational needs but also public priorities.

LANCASHIRE'S Police and Crime Commissioner Clive Grunshaw is seeking the public's views on priorities around crime and policing in the county.

"The chief constable and I have a shared ambition for the constabulary to remain as one of the top forces in the country and to be recognised as an outstanding service. Listening to people's views is an important part of this process."

The online survey will run until Monday, September 10.

In addition, a series of Let's Talk Policing events are taking place across the county including at the Concourse shopping centre in Skelmersdale on Thursday, August 23 from 10am to noon.

MP calls for borough schools to encourage students to take part in Auschwitz Project

WEST Lancs MP Rosie Cooper is supporting the Holocaust Educational Trust's 'Lessons from Auschwitz Project' by encouraging schools in the borough to promote the opportunity to their students.

The project is a carefully designed educational programme for students to attend in order to learn about pre-war experiences; life in the Holocaust first-hand from a survivor; and the opportunity to visit the former Auschwitz concentration camp.

It will start on Monday, October 29 with a seminar at which students will meet a Holocaust survivor and witness his experiences.

This will be followed by a visit to the site of the concentration camp on Wednesday, November 7.

A follow-up seminar on Sunday, November 11 will give students an opportunity to express their views and reflect on their experience.

Rosie Cooper said: "I actively recommend any West Lancashire students to consider this unique opportunity to visit an eye-opening testament to our history.

Impression

"Previously I have visited Auschwitz-Birkenau with school pupils from West Lancashire as part of an educational visit, which left a deep and lasting impression on me."

Anyone wishing to get involved with the programme is asked to contact Anita Parmar, head of the 'Lessons from Auschwitz Project', on 0207 222 4761 or by email at anita.parmar@het.org.uk.

Report outlines possible cost-savings on county's road gritting operation

Improved technology and more accurate weather forecasts could cut number of unnecessary call-outs without compromising safety - claim

MEMBERS of Lancashire County Council's cabinet will hear how improved technology could be used to more accurately decide when the county's roads need to be gritted, potentially leading to significant savings.

A report to be presented to the cabinet tomorrow (Thursday, August 9) will outline how more accurate forecasts and improved monitoring technology allow highway teams to predict with a high degree of certainty when road temperatures will fall near freezing.

The county's highways teams monitor the weather throughout the winter to ensure the roads are gritted whenever a freeze is forecast. A safety margin is built into the decision-making process to take account of any variation between weather forecasts and actual road surface temperatures.

Current policy is to grit the roads when temperatures are due to fall to 1 degree Celsius or below with the cabinet to consider a proposal to reduce this to 0.5C.

The report outlines how more reliable weather forecasts and accurate roadside monitoring stations mean the lower margin of error could be safely introduced.

Results of a study into the council's winter gritting operation over the past two years has found that 894 individual routes were treated when temperatures actually stayed above freezing.

The county council's gritting fleet treated nearly 900 individual routes when temperatures stayed above freezing over the past two years, a study has found.

Adopting the lower threshold would have saved around £220,000, reduced salt usage by 3,600 tonnes, and reduced downtime by ensuring staff involved in the gritting operation overnight were available for other daytime duties.

The report says that the recommendation to adopt the 0.5C threshold would still allow for any errors in the forecast, and that the council's forecast provider would alert highways officers if it changed for the worse.

A review of practice used by 12 other councils found that some use the same 1C intervention level as Lancashire while others only send their gritters out when temperatures are forecast to reach zero.

County Councillor Keith Iddon, cabinet member for highways and transport, said: "The decision on whether to send out the gritters is taken by experienced staff according to the most accurate information available on local weather conditions, as well as data from roadside monitoring equipment around the county.

"This method is very well developed, allowing us to differentiate between conditions on each of 45 routes, so that we only grit those that we need to. Our climate means conditions are often marginal, with road temperatures due to drop near zero at some point over the night, which is why we build in a small margin of error.

"I will ask cabinet to carefully consider this proposal as officers' advice is that we could reduce this from 1C to 0.5C without compromising safety, while making significant savings in cost and resources."

Pupils at Our Lady and All Saints receive their award from *live*simply assessor, Justine Silcock with Pam Collier and Ged Edwards from CAFOD looking on.

Simply wonderful!

Primary school only second in country to win special eco award

A WEST Lancashire primary school is only the second in the country to receive an award for commitment to living simply, sustainably and in solidarity with poor communities.

Pupils at Our Lady and All Saints Catholic Primary in Parbold were recognised for their efforts in the *live*simply award organised by the international development charity, Catholic Agency for Overseas Development (CAFOD).

For the past year, the school's eco club have been meeting regularly to implement changes across the school community, including completing an energy audit, planting trees and encouraging the use of bikes and scooters.

The school has also donated harvest produce to locals suffering illness and, during advent, collected essential items for local refugees.

Adele Connell, a teacher at the school in Brandreth Drive, said: "We are very honoured to receive the *live*simply award.

"We would like to thank all the staff, children and their families for the part they played in helping us to become a school which can live simply and sustainably in solidarity with others. We hope to continue to build on our success and continue to live simply."

CAFOD's local representative in Parbold, Ged Edwards, added: "Well done to all of the children and staff at Our Lady and All Saints Primary School for their wonderful achievement. They have been working hard all year to live more simply, sustainably and in solidarity with poor communities.

"To be only the second primary school in the country to have received this award is a great commitment and evidence that their efforts have paid off."

Nominations wanted for 'volunteers' MBE'

LORD-Lieutenant of Lancashire, Lord Shuttleworth is urging people across the county to nominate volunteer groups in their area for the 2019 Queen's Award for Voluntary Service.

Known as 'the volunteers' MBE', the deadline for nominations for the prestigious award - which recognises exceptional contributions made to local communities - is Friday, September 14.

Mrs Jo Darbyshire, deputy Lieutenant and chair of the Lancashire Queen's Award for Voluntary Service Advisory Panel, said: "Lancashire is extremely proud of the 55 groups who have won the award since 2002.

"The members in these groups number thousands and the people they help many thousands more.

"They are the unsung heroes of our county and deserve our praise and thanks for the incredible job they do.

"A prestigious national honour such as the Queen's Award for Voluntary Service not only thanks and recognises volunteers, but can prove invaluable in so many ways to the ongoing success of the organisation.

Exceptional

"If you benefit from the activities of a group or you know of a group of exceptional volunteers, please take a little bit of time to nominate them for this very special honour."

In the 16 years since the Queen's Award for Voluntary Service was created by Her Majesty to mark the occasion of her Golden Jubilee in 2002 more than 1,000 groups across the UK have been recipients.

For details of how to nominate and to download a nomination form in pdf or word format, visit https://qavs.direct.gov.uk/.

Open Exhibition is unveiled to public

More than 200 works by artists from all over the UK on display at Chapel Gallery

THIS year's prestigious Lancashire Open Exhibition, hosted by West Lancs Council's Chapel Gallery, has been unveiled to the public.

More than 350 artworks were considered for selection for the annual exhibition, submitted by artists from across the UK, with 203 now exhibited for members of the public to enjoy.

Run by the borough council, the gallery in St Helens Road, Ormskirk, will host the Open Exhibition until Wednesday, September 19.

The exhibition is a celebration of talent, from accomplished amateur through to professional, and gives visitors the chance to see a variety of inspiring works created by talented individuals in a wide range of media.

And for anyone interested in purchasing real artworks, rather than mass-produced prints, it is a great way to source original pieces to suit all budgets as pieces range from small-scale watercolours, prints and photography, to large-scale contemporary oil paintings, 3D works and textiles.

All the works were judged by guest selectors, Tracey Eastham and Martyn Lucas, who are both established artists, curators and academics.

First prize of £800 was won by John Angus with his Portrait E2, screenprint.

Second prize of £400 was shared by joint winners Katherine Dereli with Wendy, oil on canvas and Kathryn Poole with The Earth was Disturbed at His Grave II, pen and ink drawing.

And third prize (£200) went to Carole Dawber with Victoria Park in textile.

The student prize, £150, was won by Ali Barker with Fugue (Synaesthesia 130), painting on draped canvas.

Several works also received commendations.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, West Lancs Council's portfolio holder for leisure, said: "The Open is one of the gallery's most popular exhibitions, where there is something for everyone to enjoy. It also offers an excellent opportunity for any would-be art collectors as the artworks can be purchased at very reasonable prices or through the Own Art Scheme, an interest-free loan organised through Arts Council England."

Visitors to the exhibition can also vote for their own favourite to be awarded the People's Prize. All those who vote will be in with a chance to win a £50 cash prize.

The gallery, which also has a cafe and craft shop, is open from 10am to 4.30pm, Tuesday to Saturday and admission is free. For more information visit www.chapelgallery.org.uk; email chapel.gallery@westlancs.gov.uk; or call 01695 571328.

Councillors should be ashamed of approving solar farm at historic site

WE always assumed West Lancs Council had a fair planning system, how wrong we have been.

It seems the solar application at Lathom was a 'done deal' from the start. No matter how many objections the residents sent in it was not going to change the Labour councillors' decision.

A Labour councillor said it was 99% going through. That cannot be right, we all have the right to protest and be heard.

The developers, Lightsource BP once again stated about all the so-called community involvement and the 720 leaflets they supposedly distributed. Complete nonsense, a very few people in Hall Lane got a leaflet, where the others went we have no idea.

They stated there were far more supporting letters than objections, once again a complete nonsense.

The Skelmersdale Veterans sent in a petition with more than 400 names - the developer failed to mention those - so, along with the many objections sent in, it was a vast majority against the application.

Lightsource BP state it was all fine over the ecology report, once again a complete nonsense. The whole report consisted of them looking for bird droppings on a flooded field! The report was full of inaccuracies.

The planning committee meeting held on July 26 was a fiasco. The veterans took their Union Jacks and were told they could not take them in!

Councillor Pope gave a truly excellent speech and received a rousing round of applause.

Then two Labour councillors spoke and got their facts completely wrong. They obviously had not read anything on the website regarding this application.

After the meeting we had a discussion with the veterans who were extremely angry with the Labour councillors as they seemed to have no regard for the significance of the site.

This is a very historical site that cared for the war horses and there is a total belief among locals that there are many war horse graves on the site.

Lightsource BP have done nothing to prove otherwise.

The Labour councillors never gave the war horses a mention. They forget who put them in office and the electorate can easily get them out.

They should all hang their heads in shame.

Historical Lathom Residents Group.

Residents' views were totally disregarded

WHAT a complete stitch-up between West Lancs Council, the Labour councillors and now the ex Mayor of West Lancs, approving the solar application at Lathom.

They all totally disregarded the residents, the veterans, various historical societies and five parish councils. This application was going to be passed from day one, it now seems.

We should have a fair planning system, it seems WLBC are changing the rules to suit themselves and it now seems we have a very unfair planning system.

I doubt few if any of the Labour councillors ever went to see the site. The application was rushed through and the two Labour councillors who spoke hadn't got a clue as they got their facts wrong!

NSG, now Japanese-owned, are the only ones to benefit from this monstrosity.

I thought Labour stood up for 'the little people' but now it seems they are supporting global organisations and big business. I have been a Labour voter all my life but never again. They seem to forget they need voters like me.

I would like to give a big thank-you to the Skelmersdale Veterans who supported the residents throughout the campaign and sent us a petition with over 400 names, and after all that they couldn't even take the Union Jack into the council chamber.

Also, a big thank-you to Mr Eddie Pope for his very emotive speech at the meeting.

Joan Wilson, by email.

No local people want this plant sited here

I WENT to the meeting about this solar plant on Green Belt land and the committee didn't even talk about it apart from two councillors who told us the truth about it.

I spoke to a Labour councillor in Ormskirk about this application and he said with absolute conviction that it was 95% certain it would be granted. How did he know, I have to ask myself?

Not one person in Lathom sent in letters supporting this. All the letters of support were sent from NSG workers. No one in Lathom wants this, there was a petition with hundreds of names against this thing.

There are no exceptional circumstances to site a solar plant on a historic part of Lathom.

Frank Baybutt, by email.

Fuming over 'loans to landlords' suggestion

AS a small local business struggling to find premises that fit our needs, as are many others in our local area, I couldn't be any angrier and appalled at the considerations stated by West Lancs Council to provide loans to landlords with empty student properties to turn them back into family homes.

As I see it these private landlords will take the loan, refurbish the property, sell it and possibly pay the loan back to the council. They will also have great pleasure in making massive profits on the sale of the properties.

Why does West Lancs Council think that a private landlord will sell the property as affordable housing? Why not just charge them council tax on the properties? I'm sure that by implementing this it would instigate, quite quickly, the refurbishment of empty properties and lots of 'for sale' boards being erected.

Then maybe West Lancs Council would be able to invest the £800K by supporting small local businesses who are struggling to find small units fit for purpose.

Regeneration and investment is what's needed not a town council

I AM writing in response to letter headed 'Residents invited to sign up to campaign for a stand-alone Skelmersdale Town Council' (Champion, July 25).

A town council for Skelmersdale is neither needed or wanted.

The so-called 'Skelmersdale Independence Movement' is calling for this change but the reality is that a Skelmersdale Town Council would just create a needless third tier of Local Government and would only be a talking shop.

A town council would mean electing another 40 councillors to represent residents across the whole of Skelmersdale - residents who are already being well represented by Skelmersdale councillors on West Lancashire Borough Council and Lancashire County Council.

A town council would also have to be funded and paid for by local residents. In calling for this change the Skelmersdale Independence Movement would be asking every household in Skelmersdale to pay up to another £60 per year in council tax. This extra burden would have little impact on local services and much of the money raised would be needed to run a Skelmersdale Town Council.

What's really needed for Skelmersdale is town centre regeneration and investment. I am therefore delighted that West Lancashire Borough Council has announced some £19 million in funding for phase one of the town centre scheme. Together with plans for a new leisure and well being centre, extensive improvements to the public realm, infrastructure and new homes in the town.

Now that this investment has been announced I hope Skelmersdale Concourse begins to invest in their offer and press ahead with their plans for a new cinema and other retail improvements.

The Skelmersdale Independence Movement should join me in supporting all these plans.

Labour Party Councillor Neil Furey,
Skelmersdale North Ward.

Ormskirk expansion is next best option

PAULA Fletcher (Letters, July 25) is right, Skelmersdale is an ideal location for a new hospital, almost 60 years since it was put on the agenda.

Unfortunately the Government does not meet its original commitments to the New Town, that is why Ormskirk Hospital was greatly developed.

If we can't get a hospital in Skelmersdale then Ormskirk should again be expanded for the reasons of accessability as stated by Paula .

County chiefs urged to start planning for life after Brexit

Councillor fears delay in replacing EU funds will be "devastating" for local communities but cabinet member vows authority will be "fully prepared"

A WEST Lancs-based county councillor is calling for Lancashire County Council chiefs to start planning for life after Brexit.

Councillor Julie Gibson, Labour's shadow cabinet member for economic development, environment and planning, has voiced fears about how the county will replace EU funding when the UK finally leaves.

The Labour and Co-operative Party member for Skelmersdale West said; "Regardless of our personal views on the issue, there is a very real need for the council to start planning for life after Brexit. I recently asked the cabinet member responsible what plans where in place for this and what discussions had started taking place with businesses to plan for post-March 2019 and was concerned to find out that very little work, if any, had been done on this. His response was that he was waiting for national Government to tell him what to do.

"I am particularly concerned about what will replace the EU funding of which Lancashire, through the Local Enterprise Partnership (LEP) was allocated some £232 million for the years 2014 to 2020. This funding has benefited a number of businesses in West Lancashire.

"The Government has announced that it is to set up a Brexit delivery board which will look to engage with Local Government about life after Brexit but with just over seven months left before we are set to leave the EU this will be a very tight timescale and is a case of too little to late.

"As someone who has worked within European-funded regeneration programmes, I know what a vital part this funding has played in revitalising local communities and supporting small and large businesses and how devastating it could be if there is any delay in replacing these funds.

County Councillor Julie Gibson

"I will be calling on Lancashire County Council to engage as a matter of urgency with this board to avoid being left behind and to provide reassurance and certainty to communities and businesses within the Lancashire economy."

County Councillor Michael Green, cabinet member for economic development, environment and planning, responded: "Lancashire County Council has started work on post-Brexit planning and will continue to do so over the next few months, as the picture as to what a post-Brexit Lancashire means becomes clearer.

"Lancashire has many strengths to build on, not least of which is its international trading reputation and critical national infrastructure.

" The extent of our considerations at this stage include, but are not limited to:- the economy (including business confidence, workforce, skills, investment & trade); funding streams; transportation and the impact Brexit will have on our EU-facing ports; and legal considerations.

Importance

"We are also monitoring the emerging landscape via regular 'Brexit Monitor' documentation which is pulled together by the North West regional research consortium.

"I agree with Cllr. Gibson on the importance of funding to support the growth of the Lancashire economy. However, I would remind her that it was the incoming Conservative administration who made extra funding available last year for the excellent 'Boost' Growth Hub and Marketing Lancashire – which her party refused to support.

"The residents of West Lancashire, and indeed every district in the county, voted to leave the European Union. They can rest assured that the county council and its partners will be fully prepared for the impacts of Brexit as far as they are known over the next few months, and we will work positively to secure a bright future for Lancashire businesses."

Bone marrow cancer support group celebrate 21st birthday

MEMBERS of the West Lancs and Merseyside Myeloma Support Group held a garden party in Ainsdale to help celebrate the cancer charity's 'coming of age'!

The group says 2018 is a big year for Myeloma UK as it marks 21 years of providing support, advancing treatment through research and improving care for bone marrow cancer patients and their families.

Special guest, Elaine Deeming, lead cancer nurse at Southport and Ormskirk NHS Trust hospitals, was invited to cut the cake at the garden party which was attended by friends and family of the support group and raised £400.

A spokesperson for the group said: "The group meets once a month in Southport and is a great opportunity to meet patients, family members and carers in an informal and friendly environment and to learn more about living with myeloma.

"The funds will help Myeloma UK to raise awareness among local GPs and nurses of myeloma which has one of the highest rates of delay in diagnosis.

Treatments

"Myeloma UK is the only organisation in the country dealing exclusively with myeloma. It helps myeloma patients live longer and with a better quality of life by accelerating the discovery, development and access to new treatments, while helping patients and their families cope with everything a diagnosis brings."

One of the members of the group, David Lovelady, from Ormskirk, who received two bone marrow stem cell transplants for myeloma 17 years ago, hopes to continue raising money for the charity by hiring out the 21 sign he made for their party.

Members of the West Lancs and Merseyside Myeloma Support Group pictured at their garden party to celebrate 21 years of supporting bone marrow cancer patients and their families.

He said: "The sign is 4ft high and made of plywood and for £10 will be available for hire to anybody having a 21st - or a 1st, 2nd or 12th - birthday or anniversary.

"All money raised will go to pay the expenses for a myeloma expert from Myeloma UK to come from Edinburgh and give a talk for all local GPs about the symptoms to look for to help with early diagnosis."

Anyone interested in hiring the sign can contact David by email at ormskirk-dave@aim.com or by ringing 07803 167 909.

For more information about West Lancs and Merseyside Myeloma Support Group contact David Simister by email at david@ainsdale.demon.co.uk or by phone on 07515 668 762.

Minister urged to reconsider funding for fracking protests

LANCASHIRE'S Police and Crime Commissioner, Clive Grunshaw has met with the Policing and the Fire Service Minister, Nick Hurd, to discuss pressures on the service and to urge him to reconsider special grant funding to cover the costs of policing the ongoing fracking protests.

During the MP's visit to constabulary headquarters Mr Grunshaw took the opportunity to outline the impact a lack of Government funding was having on policing in the county at a time when the force is managing not just an increase in crime, but also non-crime demand including mental health and social care.

Since January 2017 Lancashire Constabulary has been policing daily protests at the Preston New Road site to ensure the safety of protesters, road users and staff or contractors entering and leaving the site.

Clive Grunshaw has been lobbying the Government for months over its decision to award Lancashire Constabulary just £1.4 million towards the £6.8m cost of policing the fracking site and it was pointing out to the minister that this left the force to find the £5.4 million difference from existing budgets, impacting the front line.

Mr Grunshaw (right) with Policing Minister, Nick Hurd

Positive

Mr Grunshaw said: "I welcomed the opportunity to meet with Mr Hurd and to talk with him about the changing and challenging nature of police demand and to tell him first-hand about the impact of austerity.

"I also relayed to him my disappointment over residents in Lancashire being left to foot the bill for the fracking operation when the decision to allow fracking in the county was made by Westminster and when European Cup finals and even Donald Trump's visit have all seen a much higher proportion of the costs covered, if not all of them.

"On behalf of Lancashire Constabulary and local residents I urged him to consider carefully future requests for support towards operational costs such as fracking to ensure that our police aren't left short-changed as a result of their work keeping people safe at the site.

"It was a positive meeting and I was encouraged by his understanding of the pressures on the service and his appreciation of all the hard work of officers and staff."

Mr Hurd spent the day speaking with front-line officers at Preston before visiting force headquarters at Hutton where he met with Chief Constable Andy Rhodes and was given a tour of the new forensic services academy.

Business answer service company launches app to mark birthday

A WEST Lancs company that answers calls for other businesses when they aren't able to has celebrated its fifth birthday by launching its first app.

Face For Business, based at Martland Mill in Burscough, uses bespoke technology and software to offer a telephone answering service to businesses

Customers simply divert calls as and when they want and they are answered in the customer's company's name, with a message forwarded on straight away.

Now thanks to the new app, customers can now access all calls and messages on the go and can even let their Face For Business personal assistants know their daily whereabouts straight from their mobile phone.

Since opening in 2013 the FFB has notched up some notable achievements, including being chosen as one of 100 businesses nationally to be profiled in the run-up to Small Business Saturday and winning West Lancs Council's SME Apprenticeship Employer of the Year award.

Staff at Face for Business celebrate the company's fifth birthday.

The only way we should 'shoot' polar bears is with a camera!

AM I simply becoming a Grumpy Old Man, or do some niggles great and small upset others as well as myself?

I don't know - and to be honest, I don't really care that much either - which probably makes my irritations that much more valid, in a perverse sort of way.

Anyway, a couple of news stories from a few days ago managed to press the 'grumpy' button. First there was the lovely story of the female tiger at Whipsnade Zoo along with a charming photograph of the cubs at play outside for the first time.

Apparently mum, Naya, and her mate Botzman were taking part in a European breeding programme for endangered species. So far, so very charming.

And then the niggle had to be put in. Apparently, Naya and Botzman are Amur tigers. Never heard of them? Neither have I. Apparently until recently these splendid animals were what we always thought were Siberian tigers. Who changed the name and for what reason (and whom did 'they' ask anyway)?

It's just another 'right on' piece of tomfoolery designed I reckon just to upset me and mar a really uplifting story.

If I were a tiger cub, I know which I would rather be called - Siberian any day of the week!

The second story though was far more upsetting, alike only in that it shows the folly of refusing to leave well enough alone.

A polar bear (how long before they get an Inuit name?) was shot dead in the Svalbard archipelago between mainland Norway and the North Pole, apparently after attacking a guard escorting tourists off a cruise ship.

Quite why this guard found it necessary to blast this animal in its own habitat was not made clear. I would have thought that if these gawping tourists needed a guard he could better have been supplied with tranquilliser darts.

Please don't misunderstand me. The guard received serious injuries and was 'only doing his job' for which I have no objection.

No, it is the sheer arrogance of humans who seem to think it their right to interfere with wild creatures on their home ground. The shot bear may have been protecting her cubs, or searching for food made increasingly illusive by the actions of humans. By what right do folk with their cameras and armed guards think they should invade what's left of the polar bear's habitat which we as a race are successfully trying to destroy?

If you really want to get close up and personal with a polar bear, by all means do so. Without an armed escort.

Polar bears are an endangered species because of us. If you want to learn more about them, and see how they live in the wild, there are many good TV programmes by people who have the good sense (and equipment) to be able to film in safety - safety for them and for the bears. They shoot them on film, not with high-powered bullets.

But do you know what annoyed me most when I saw this tragic story? Inset with the photo of the dead bear was a picture of a sign deployed nearby. It looks just like a normal road sign, triangular with a red border and a polar bear, white on a black background and a warning below. Somehow, I found this to be truly disgusting. 'Warning, polar bears ahead, take a gun' - or something like that.

Probably the good folk of Svalbard are only too happy to see tourists descend from their cruise liners. And after a good meal aboard and the promise of another when they return, the tourists are no doubt looking forward to poking their noses into bear territory.

Trouble is, apparently the bears themselves see things somewhat differently - and end up being shot for their trouble.

Guests and staff at the official opening of Hotel Pawsifornia.

Pooch pamper 'hotel' is open for business

A 'LUXURY hotel for dogs' complete with all mod cons has opened on Simonswood Industrial Park, near Bickerstaffe.

The Hotel Pawsifornia has eight rooms, all featuring underfloor heating and individual lighting. There is even a TV lounge where the dogs can relax after a long day of exercise and walks!

A launch event to mark the official opening featured children's entertainment, face painting, canapes, wine and a DJ.

Owners, Annmarie and Julie Graham-Jones, have already opened a dog-friendly-cafe at the site, named Paws4Food and they also provide day care for dogs.

Annmarie said: "The opening day went really well. Lots of people attended, we also took a few hotel bookings and several new recruits are now enjoying day care with us."

Deadline looming for Dementia Friendly Awards nominations

THERE is still time to make nominations for the national 2018 Dementia Friendly Awards before the deadline on Monday, August 20.

The awards recognise, celebrate and promote the inspirational achievements of those uniting to making a real difference to people living with dementia.

The Alzheimer's Society has revealed that a staggering two-and-a-half million people in the UK have united against dementia and become Dementia Friends.

The initiative is a social action movement aiming to change the way people think, act and talk about dementia.

Steve Green from the society said: "This is a wonderful opportunity to celebrate individuals, organisations and communities leading and inspiring a change that will transform the lives of people with dementia forever, challenging misunderstandings, changing attitudes and taking action.

"There are a whole range of awards across 10 categories to recognise outstanding work in this area of increasing importance to the whole community, including Inspiring Young Person of the Year; Dementia Friendly Organisation of the Year; and Dementia Friendly Community of the Year.

"Our finalists will be selected and invited to a ceremony in London on Thursday, November 22. "

Budding film-makers urged to enter Parliament competition

WEST Lancs MP Rosie Cooper is encouraging local film-makers to enter Parliament's annual 'Film the House' competition.

The competition offers an opportunity for the borough's talented musicians and film-makers to take centre stage and make direct contact with 'movers and shakers' in the two creative industries.

Judged by industry leading lights, it offers glittering prizes provided by sponsors, which last year included mentoring from professionals in the film industry, a private screening of the winners' films for friends and family, and classification of the winning films by the British Board of Film Classification.

As well as a pioneering opportunity to showcase what the UK has to offer, the 'Film the House' competition also raises awareness about the importance of Intellectual Property (IP) to the creative industries.

The closing date for entries is Sunday, September 30.

Rosie Cooper said: "I would urge all local film-makers to enter Film the House. It is an excellent opportunity to celebrate our local talent and, as nominations are judged by industry experts, there is no finer chance for our film-makers to gain exposure."

Categories for the 2018 competition are: Best Short Film (under 16); Best Short Film (16 and over); Best Script (under 16); Best Script (16 and over).

A shortlist will be announced in January and the Awards Ceremony will be held at the House of Commons in April 2019.

For more information go to www.filmthehouse.co.uk.

Manager, Danny Johnson, for whom this was his first season in charge, said: "The lads showed a massive improvement this year, scoring 47 goals and winning more games than in the last two years."

The Skelmersdale-based team, who play home games at Blaguegate Lane playing fields, compete in the Craven Minor League from September to May against teams from Southport and Formby. The 18-strong squad train at Blaguegate Lane in the summer and at the JMO in winter.

Rosie Cooper slams latest 'hammer blow' to local justice

Chorley Magistrates Court to close despite MP's concerns

Report by Henry James

ROSIE Cooper has accused the Government and Her Majesty's Courts and Tribunals Service of "diluting" local justice following the announcement of another local magistrates court closure.

The West Lancs MP hit out at the decision to close Chorley Magistrates Court, two years after the Ormskirk court closed its doors for the final time.

She has repeatedly campaigned for justice to remain local, initially successfully seeing off the proposed closure of Ormskirk Magistrates in 2006 before the Government finally pulled the plug 10 years later.

Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Justice, Lucy Frazer wrote to Ms Cooper informing her of the decision to press ahead with the closure of Chorley Magistrates' Court - despite the MP's particular concerns, including travel time to court from West Lancashire, and in particular Skelmersdale where she deemed transport links inadequate.

Preston Magistrates Court will now deal with cases which would have been heard at Chorley.

The former Ormskirk Magistrates Court - Rosie Cooper fought its closure but its doors shut for the last time in 2016.

Rosie Cooper said: "The decision to close Ormskirk Magistrates' Court in 2016 was simply the wrong decision and now we see HM Courts and Tribunals continuing on their mission to close local magistrates courts and dilute local justice.

"We know there was a desire within the Ministry of Justice and HM Courts and Tribunals Service to make closures happen as far back as 2006 when they first tried to close Ormskirk.

"These decisions save them money and make it easier for those running the courts. But they are not for the benefit of or in the interests of the residents who should have access to local justice.

"One of the fundamental objections to this proposed closure was the poor availability of public transport to alternative courthouses. A situation that has only worsened given further Government cuts to local authority budgets forcing councils to consider the future of local bus services.

"There is no question this decision is yet another hammer blow to the centuries-old principle of local justice."

Learn a new skill at Martin Mere

Over the autumn and winter, WWT Martin Mere Wetland Centre is hosting a series of courses aimed at getting you engaged with nature. From September onwards you can take part in courses that help increase your bird identification skills, photography skills and drawing and painting skills as well as giving you an opportunity to meet experts in these fields.

Birdwatching Morning
Join Andy Bunting from in focus to develop your bird identification skills in the field and receive expert advice on using the tools of the trade i.e. guides, binoculars and telescopes.

Wildlife Photography
A comprehensive all-day workshop with Andy Bunting from in focus, winner of the WWT Nikon Photograph of the Year Competition and BIAZA Wildlife in the Wild. The day is designed to help you understand some of the basics of photography and how they relate to your current camera, which will in turn allow you to improve your photographic results. You will look into the three parameters of shutter speed, aperture and iso rating, how they work with one another and how they affect your end results.

Drawing & Painting Birds
Join award winning local artist and illustrator Tony Disley for this one-day class exploring the process from drawing through to a finished painting. This class is designed for beginners with the aim of showing how to draw and paint a detailed and realistic painting of a bird subject. Practical demonstrations and tutorials throughout the day will help guide you to produce a small finished painting.

All of these courses are available to book online by going to www.wwt.org.uk/martinmere and clicking through to the 'what's on' (September, October & December). Places are limited at just 8 per session to ensure you receive one to one tuition so it is advised to book early to secure your place.

Rise in stem cell donors but more young men still needed

MORE than 15,000 people from the North West registered to become stem cell donors in 2017, bringing the total number in the region to 148,305, new figures released reveal.

However, the annual review of the Anthony Nolan and NHS Stem Cell Registry reveals that while the register now stands at 1.4m, young men are significantly under-represented.

More than 2,200 searches for a lifesaving transplant were made in 2017 with 82 per cent of people who donated stem cells or bone marrow men, and 57 per cent men aged under 30. Men under 30 make up just 12 per cent of the UK stem cell register; highlighting the importance of raising awareness of their lifesaving potential among this group.

Marginally fewer donors from black, Asian and minority ethnic backgrounds joined the UK stem cell register in 2017. Donors from minority ethnic backgrounds make up just 14% of the UK stem cell register. Patients from black, Asian or other minority backgrounds have only a 20% chance of finding the best possible donor match, compared to 69% for northern European backgrounds.

Sweet taste of success at the double!

THE talented team at a West lancs-based specialist chocolate maker are celebrating after tasting success at the double at a prestigious food industry awards.

Choc Amor of Mawdesley scooped two 2-star ratings at the 2018 Great Taste Awards.

Organised by the Guild of Fine Food and described as the 'Oscars' of the food world, Great Taste celebrates the very best in food and drink.

Choc Amor was the only chocolatier to be awarded a 2-star for its Brown Butter and Nibs in a rich 45% milk chocolate. And it was also awarded a 1-star for its Tonka Bean in 61% dark chocolate.

Both awards are judged by the most demanding palates, belonging to food critics, chefs, cooks, restaurateurs and producers, as well as a whole host of food writers and journalists.

Great Taste is widely acknowledged as the most respected food accreditation scheme for artisan and speciality food producers.

Paul Williams, head chocolatier at Choc Amor, said: "This is the sixth year we have entered and the sixth year we have won. We now have 15 Great Taste Awards in total which we are really proud of.

"Our total haul of awards for this year is six as we also picked up four at The Academy of Chocolates in London earlier on.

"I would like to thank all our staff for this great team effort and our amazing customers for their continued support."

Ukulele festival 'best yet' says organiser

Event draws musicians from all over the UK

Organiser, Gary Smith and ukulele artist Andrea D Cooke at Parbulele.

THE organiser of Parbold's third Parbulele ukulele festival, has hailed it as the best yet with players travelling from all over the UK to attend.

The three-day event opened with a mock wedding ceremony in the village hall of last year's festival mascot, Mr Parbulele, to this year's mascot, Mrs Parbulele, followed by a concert.

Designs for the two mascots had been chosen via a competition held between local schools.

Over the weekend ukulele local bands played at various venues through the village, while there was also an open mic session on the main stage at the specially-constructed Music Village at the side of the canal.

The event also featured workshops run by professional artists to teach beginners how to play the ukulele and also to help current players seeking to improve their skills.

Organiser, Gary Smith, said: "Parbulele 2018 was the best yet with the whole village supporting it and ukulele players from the length and breadth of the country attending.

"A big thanks to everyone who came and supported us."

Right: Mr and Mrs Parbulele 'tie the knot' to start the 2018 Parbold Ukulele Festival.

'King of Swing' singer Asa makes a spectacle of himself

PROFESSIONAL swing singer Asa Murphy from Maghull has written, produced and will perform in a new show on the life and songs of Buddy Holly.

Asa currently has his own Sunday BBC Radio Merseyside programme and is a life-long fan of Buddy Holly, who he says is probably one of the most inspirational artists of all time.

The show, which takes to the stage at Liverpool's Epstein Theatre in November, tells the story of Buddy Holly from when he performed in a roller rink, to his famous appearance at Harlem.

"He was the first white artist to play the Apollo Theatre to a completely black audience and he absolutely tore the place apart", Asa said.

The show goes up to Buddy's final ever concert in Clear Lake, Iowa before his untimely death aged 22.

It features audio and visual clips and is interspersed by 18 of Buddy Holly's songs, performed by the King of Swing himself.

Asa, has been a swing singer for more than 15 years and has toured all over the UK and abroad.

He said: "I have always wanted to perform a show about Buddy Holly.

"I have always sang swing music career wise, but I have always had a fascination with Buddy Holly because his career only spanned 17 months, from 1957 when That'll Be The Day was released until he died on February 3, 1959.

"I would say that he is probably one of the most influential artists of all time."

Buddy Holly Lives, The Music Never Died will show at the Epstein Theatre, Hanover Street, on November 16 with a 7.30pm start.

Other dates will be added, Asa commented, and there are also plans to take the show on the road.

In the meantime, the singer says, you might just see him walking around Maghull Square with his Buddy Holly glasses on!

Asa Murphy has been wearing glasses to get used to his role as Buddy Holly, inset, in his new show.

Musician picked for programme to develop up and coming talent

Report by Kenny Parker

MUSICIAN and Champion distributor, David Hughes will be aiming to deliver a winning performance after being chosen to take part in an innovative project to develop the careers of promising artists.

The 23-year-old from Ormskirk, who performs under the project name Charity Shop Pop, makes experimental pop music by bringing in influences from the indie music scene and mixing ambient and electronic sounds from various other genres.

Following his project's selection for Merseyrail Sound Station, which is run in conjunction with Liverpool music magazine, Bido Lito!, he will benefit from two months of studio workshops and one-to-one sessions with representatives from across the industry, culminating in a range of live performances, including the Merseyrail Sound Station Live Festival at Liverpool Central railway station on Friday, September 28.

David, who has delivered the Champion, since he was 15, is one of a cohort of Merseyside-based artists to be selected for the programme and has already had tracks played on BBC radio.

He said: "I'm delighted to have been chosen for this year's Sound Station - although I'm still in a state of shock as I applied on a whim and never expected to get through to the final stage.

"The programme will really help me to develop as an artist and open up lots of doors, allowing more people to hear my music. I am also really excited about performing the live sessions in Central Station in September which will be pretty cool."

Merseyrail Sound Station Live, now in its sixth year, will take place in partnership with BBC Music Day.

Craig Pennington, Bido Lito! founder and Sound Station project lead, said: "This project is about ensuring the next generation of musicians are equipped to excel in the modern music environment.

"The music sector has changed hugely over the past decade, with the decline of record sales and the rise of new models around streaming that place artists in a great position of power and opportunity.

"Sound Station will give musicians a solid foundation and allow them to work with some of the most exciting music companies in the country, as well as providing them with the knowledge and skills they need."

Music talent David Hughes from Ormskirk who has been chosen to take part in Sound Station

Merseyrail managing director, Andy Heath, said: "We are hugely proud to be part of such an important and progressive project which will give invaluable advice and opportunities to Merseyside's bustling musical talent."

Tracks from all the Merseyrail Sound Station artists can be found at www.merseyrail-soundstation.com.

Parbold Douglas announces Saturday concert season

PARBOLD Douglas Music's forthcoming Saturday concert season aims to offer its audience a dazzling range of the highest quality artists and varied styles of music.

Built on its concert grand Steinway and the venue, a future link has been established with the world-famous Leeds International Piano Competition.

Audiences will be able to hear two of its recent victors. Anna Tsybuleva, the 2015 winner, described as one of the finest young musicians of her generation by Peter Donohoe, perform a popular virtuoso Chopin and Tchaikovsky programme on Saturday, October 20.

The 2012 Leeds winner, Federico Colli, follows her on November 10 with a classic programme of Brahms and Mozart.

In complete contrast on Saturday, November 17, Neil Brand, the presenter of BBC TV's Sound of Cinema' series and also the UK's best silent film piano accompanist, will present the life and films of Buster Keaton and play a live piano accompaniment to a screening of Keaton's complete 71-minute comedy Steamboat Bill Jnr.

After two year's of messages and the attraction of the rare combination of great cinema projection and a Steinway concert grand, Parbold Douglas Music and The Picture House are proud to present Neil Brand for the first time in the North West.

The Autumn series ends on December 8 with a traditional Christmas concert by Leyland Brass Band, but the evening will open with a commemoration of the end of WW1.

NEWS DESK · 01704 392 400

Toyota has made its Avensis Tourer very good at blending in - but our motors man reckons he has the answer

As a car nut with a short attention span, I never know where my car is!

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.co.uk

SOMETIMES the best places to go looking for cars aren't the bustling shows taking place at stately homes most weekends – it's the makeshift car parks next to them.

I was at one last Sunday and in the vast field given over to cars brought along by visitors I spotted a Jaguar XK150, a Ford Capri 3000XL, a Citroen CX GTI and a particularly well restored Hillman Super Minx. All of which were, lovely, of course, but the car I really wanted to see was a silver, 18-reg Toyota Avensis 2.0 D-4D Tourer. Largely because it's the car I'd been lent for the weekend, and I needed to get home again.

Anyone who's been to a big car show in something that isn't a Triumph TR4 will have encountered this problem.

After crawling through the grounds of a palatial country pile you're directed into a nondescript field, where some volunteers – who always seem to be children drafted in from a local Scout group – beckon you into neatly organised rows of cars that aren't terribly interesting.

Normally, if you park up somewhere you'll make a mental note of where you are – but because I'm a car nut with a short attention span my mind immediately zooms to what's on the other side of the show entry gate, and I forget.

Which is great right up to the moment you emerge seven hours later and have to find your mid-sized family hatchback in a vast, nondescript field filled from front to back with mid-sized family hatchbacks.

If you're lucky you might have remembered that you parked two rows away from a bloke in a Ferrari and that you can use his slightly dusty-looking F430 as a sort of homing beacon, but normally there's a horrible moment when you realise you might never see your car again.

I once spent two hours wandering around the peripheries of Goodwood trying to find a borrowed Skoda Fabia, which has six vast car parks given over to people who all seem to drive Skoda Fabias.

You might even end up doing the thing I do, which is to grab your car's keyfob and point it in just about every direction imaginable, hoping that somewhere in the distance you might see the reassuring flash of indicators of a car that's unlocking itself.

It makes you look like someone who's pulling shapes at an early '90s rave night, but it does on the odd occasion reunite you with your wheels.

I reckon the solution is for cars to be equipped with distress flares that can be activated remotely from the keyfob – especially for ones as visually anonymous as the current Avensis D-4D Tourer.

As long as the car show isn't held in a multi-storey car park this would work a treat, and you'd only have to look up to see in an instant where you've parked.

Or just turn up in something interesting, of course. I bet the bloke in the XK150 doesn't have this problem…

Volvo now offering turbocharged engine

VOLVO is now offering a turbocharged 250bhp engine – known as the T5 – in three of its larger models.

The two-litre petrol unit is now available in the S90 saloon, V90 estate and the XC90 off-roader.

Volvo claims it'll crack 60mph in 6.8 seconds in the S90, and is capable of a combined 42mpg.

The saloon is the cheapest of the trio, with the prices starting at £41,120.

Go to www.volvocars.co.uk to find out more about all of the models that they have for sale now as well as the ones due to go on sale in the autumn.

Domigan half century not enough to save Burscough from defeat

BURSCOUGH are 31 points adrift of the safety zone in the First Diviison after going down by 84 runs at second placed Orrell Red Triangle.

After electing to bat the hosts duly declared after 42 overs on 244-4, thanks to fine knocks from Minhaj Bhada 105, Sam Heeley 33*, Andrew Mottram 32 and Siddiq Patel 30*.

In Burscough's reply, Brendan Domigan 50 and Mark Crowley 41* top scored in a total of 160, with Heeley claiming 3-32.

It was a bad weekend for First Division, leaders Southport & Birkdale suffered a five wicket defeat at home against Wavertree on Saturday, and were then beaten by Ainsdale on Sunday in a match rescheduled due to S&B hosting a Lancashire match at the end of the month.

Against Wavertree on Saturday, S&B elected to bat and slipped from 46-2 to 76 all out with Adam Phillips top scoring with 21, whilst Stewart Guy 6-11 (inc a hat trick) and Matt Nation 4-26 did all the damage with the ball.

In reply, Darren Collin 30 and Romario Griffith 25* led the visitors to victory on 79-5.

On Sunday Ainsdale elected to bat and Stephen Lucas 69* and Mark Lucas 34 got them off to a great start as they reached 105-1 before Chris Firth spun Southport back in the match with a superb spell of 15-3-41-8, leaving Ainsdale's skipper Lucas once again top score 89 with over half his side's 163 total.

S&B struggled throughout their innings and were eventually dismissed for 107 with Firth 24 top scoring, whilst the stars with the ball were Mal Swift 6-46 and Martyn Farrell 4-53 who helped set up the 56 run victory.

Ainsdale had already recorded a thumping ten wicket home win on Saturday after bowling Wigan out for 139 with Martyn Farrell 6-35 and Mal Swift 3-48 on fire with the ball.

Skipper Stephen Lucas then hit his second century in as many weeks with an unbeaten 103* (inc 22x4) and his former captain Andy Barlow weighed in with an unbeaten 31 as Ainsdale romped to victory on 141-0.

Ormskirk score enough to beat New Brighton despite batting collapse

ORMSKIRK stay second in the Liverpool & District Competition Premier Division, although 36 points adrift of the leaders Northern, after a 49 run home win against struggling New Brighton, writes Gelnn Wallworth.

Lancashire's Josh Bohannon 62 and club stalwart John Armstrong 61 got Ormskirk off to a fine start on 146-1.

New Brighton then clawed their way back into the match with Ashraf Nawab 5-61 and David While 4-63 restricting Ormskirk to a total of 210.

In reply, Mark Rowland 66 and While 33 took the visitors to 115-2 before Tom Hartley 4-42, skipper Nicky Caunce 3-48 and Gavin Griffith 2-9 combined to dismiss New Brighton for 161.

Northern extended their lead at the top after a narrow two wicket win at Leigh.

Leigh chose to bat and were bowled out for 172 in the 50th over with Ross Zelem 53 and Lewis Pearson in decent touch, whilst the spin of Tom Sephton 5-54 and Justin Snow 2-24 accounted for the majority of the wickets.

Liam Grey bolstered Northern's innings with 58 and Lancashire's Tom Bailey hit 27, paving the way for Snow 29* and Sephton 10* to lead them over the victory line on 177-8.

Formby dropped 23 points adrift of Ormskirk after suffering a narrow three run defeat at Rainhill.

Rainhill were able to post 228 all out thanks to runs from David Atkinson 66, Ashen Perera 40, James Clarke 33 and Tyler McGladdery 30 with Lukman Vahaluwala 4-50 and young Jackson Darkes-Sutcliffe 3-57 sharing the bulk of the wickets.

In reply, Lancashire's Haseeb Hameed 81, Sam Oldham 50, Vahaluwala 40* and Ollie Sutton 35 took Formby to 206-5 before a dramatic collapse led by Akshay Darekar 4-74 saw them bowled out for 225.

Fourth placed Bootle closed the gap on Formby with a 19 run win at Wallasey.

Bootle chose to bat and thanks to a century from Sam Kershaw and a welcome return to form from skipper Craig Prince 62 were able to declare on 223-9, with Matt Wilcox 5-63 and Neil Cross 3-62 taking the majority of the wickets to fall.

In reply, Cross cracked 97 and Jack Leckey 29 but it wasn't enough as the spin of Scott Butterworth 6-19 helped dismiss the hosts for 204.

Century from Ring sets up win for Maghull

A CENTURY from John Ring helped Maghull record an 88 run win in their Second Division match at home to Southport Trinity.

Maghull racked up 298-6 declared in just 46 overs, thanks to the century from Ring 126 (20x4 & 1x6), 49 from skipper Paul Walters and 39 from Cam Lawrenson, whilst Tony Campbell took 4-75 with the ball.

Mohammad Nawaz (4-54) and Lawrenson (3-46) then shared seven wickets as Trinity were bowled out for 210.

Luke Falkiner 55, Wim Van Der Walt 42 and Shaun Robson 29 were top scorers.

Hightown St Mary's were beaten by eight wickets at home against Parkfield Liscard, the hosts were asked to bat and bowled out for 169 with Muhammed Nazim claiming 6-47 with the ball.

Jayden Schadendorf 35 and Leo McCarthy 26 top scored with the bat.

In reply, Robert Courtney hit an unbeaten 91* and Mike Keogh 36 as the visitors strolled to victory on 171-2.

This weekend's local LDCC fixture's (1pm): Bootle v Lytham, Colwyn Bay v Formby, Northern v Wallasey, Rainford v Ormskirk, Ainsdale v Fleetwood Hesketh, Birkenhead Park v Southport & Birkdale, Burscough v Newton le Willows, Caldy v Maghull, Spring View v Hightown St Mary's. Southport Trinity have no match due to Skelmersdale dropping out of the league.

Moore strikes twice for Skem

Skelmersdale United 2
Airbus UK 1

DAVE Moore scored twice for Skelmersdale as they recorded an impressive friendly victory over Welsh Premier League side Airbus UK Broughton, writes Neil Leatherbarrow.

A good crowd was attracted to the JMO and they were treated to an entertaining first-half.

Both sides went close to scoring but as the half progressed Skelmersdale got on top, bringing a couple of good saves out of the away goalkeeper before hitting the crossbar.

In the 43rd minute Skelmersdale took the lead. Dave Moore was put away down the right from a sharply taken free-kick and he cut inside before firing a right-foot shot across the goalkeeper into the far corner of the net.

After the interval both sides missed some good chances before Airbus got away down the left hand side in the 61st minute.

The ball was worked to James Hooper, whose his first time shot beat Skem goalkeeper Chris Cheetham at his near-post to make it 1-1.

Skelmersdale's winner arrived in the 77th minute, from the same man Dave Moore. Like his first goal, it was from his right foot and low into the far corner.

Airbus pressed in the last ten minutes for an equaliser, however, Skelmersdale held firm and the win will give them confidence that they are on the right track for next season.

Dave Moore scores his first for Skelmersdale. Picture by John Driscoll

The first league match of the season is not until Saturday, August 18 when Skelmersdale play Leek Town at Prescot.

Their pre-season games were due to continue last night (Tuesday, August 7) when they play Warrington Town, before they finish their preparations with a trip to Hyde United on Saturday, August 11, kick off 3pm.

One real positive that could be drawn from Saturday's game at Blaguegate Lane was the size of the crowd it attracted, showing people are still getting behind the club.

Under strength Burscough lose opening league game

Burscough 1
Hanley Town 2

AN under strength Burscough lost their opening game of the season after conceding a late winner against Hanley Town.

Manager Dave Sutton was without key players Alex Parkes, Josh Dunroe, Prince Ekpolo and Luke Gibson, but for 70 minutes they were the better side.

It was in the 86th minute that the Linnets conceded the winning goal after a Hanley forward reacted first to a rebound in the Burscough penalty area.

It was an even opening to the game with neither team showing too much in the way of attacking intent, but it was Hanley who took the lead in the 17th minute.

A corner was driven in from the left and centre-back Josh Thorpe broke free to smash a header into the Burscough net from about eight yards out.

Going a goal down inspired Burscough rather put their heads down and until half-time they were the better team.

It was worth the wait for Burscough's equaliser because it was a wonderfully crafted goal in the 38th minute.

Gary Grier put an angled ball out to the left-wing, where it found Cummings who had swapped sides. The number seven cut in and played a sharp low ball into the goalmouth, Whyte ran onto it and side-footed the ball low into the net.

The Linnets had the best chance on the hour. Ward crashed the ball against the Crab Tree Lane End crossbar and Brady pounced onto the loose ball.

He was clumsily tackled from behind by Thorpe and a penalty was given. With Burscough's regular spot-kicker Parkes absent, Whyte took on the responsibility, but his attempt went straight at goalkeeper Wyatt and it remained level.

Hanley won a penalty on 77 minutes for a John Branagan foul on Callum Tunstall. Hanley's number nine Kieron Ball went one worse than Whyte by blazing the spot-kick well wide of the post.

The visitors began to get on top in the last ten minutes, but Burscough looked comfortable with Brady having a tremendous game in the centre, having been trusted with the number five shirt.

In the end you had to feel sorry for Burscough after 86 minutes when Hanley snatched victory. Tunstall turned and shot and his effort thundered against the crossbar, the rebound dropped to Thorpe, who doubled his total with a header into the net to make it 1-2.

Burscough face 1874 Northwich in the FA Cup on Saturday at Victoria Park.
